

Hiroshima/Nagasaki Exhibition at the Kawasaki Peace Museum

(358)

「ヒロシマ・ナガサキ原爆展」について

The Kawasaki Peace Museum is now hosting an exhibition about the atomic bomb.

The exhibition is called “Hiroshima / Nagasaki Genbaku Ten”, and it will continue through Sunday August 31st. The museum is open from 9am to 5pm Tuesdays through Sundays; it is closed on Mondays and on Tuesday, August 19th.

The exhibition takes up the theme of the two atomic bombs which were dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki during the Second World War. Put together cooperatively by the cities of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, the exhibition includes a number of panels with information and photos about the bombings. There are also reproductions of pictures of the bombings and their aftermath made by the residents of those cities, as well as other exhibits.

The exhibition is another opportunity for us to once again reflect upon the horrors of war and the preciousness of peace.

The Kawasaki Peace Museum (川崎市平和館) is an eight-minute walk from Musashi-Kosugi Station. For more information you can call 0 4 4 - 4 3 3 - 0 1 7 1 .

Korea As Taro Okamoto Saw it

(360) 「岡本太郎美術館企画展」について

An exhibition currently at the Taro Okamoto Museum of Art explores the influence of Korea upon the famous artist from Kawasaki.

It's called "Korea Through Taro Okamoto's Eyes 1964, 1977" (岡本太郎が見た韓国 1964・1977) and it's running until Sunday, September the 28th.

In 1964, and again in 1977, Taro Okamoto visited Korea. The current exhibition follows in the artist's footsteps as he meets Korean people and learns about their culture and lifestyle, becoming deeply impressed with both. On display are about 70 photographs Okamoto took while in Korea along with masks and other folk objects from that country. Together with related works of art by Taro Okamoto, there are about 200 items in total.

So come on out to the lush greenery of Ikuta Park to the Taro Okamoto Museum of Art, and see Korea through the artist's eyes.

The Taro Okamoto Museum of Art, Kawasaki is about a 17-minute walk from Mukougauka-Yuen Station on the Odakyu Line.

For more information you can phone the museum, called the OKAMOTO TARŌ BIJUTSUKAN (岡本太郎美術館) in Japanese, at 0 4 4 - 9 0 0 - 9 8 9 8
